ENGLISH LITERATURE
CH 17- THE TEMPEST

Summary

This is a scene from Shakespeare's play 'The Tempest'. Ferdinand enters carrying a log, which he claims would be a hateful task except that he carries it to serve Miranda. His carrying of the logs is a penalty but one he willingly accepts because thoughts of Miranda make the work seem effortless to him. Miranda enters and, when Ferdinand does not rest, offers to take up his task and forces him to rest, but Ferdinand refuses. Although she was trained not to reveal her name, Miranda impulsively reveals it to Ferdinand. Ferdinand, for his part, has known other beautiful women, but he admits to having never known one as perfect as Miranda. Miranda admits that she has known no other women, nor any other man, except for her father. Now, she would want no other man except for Ferdinand. At this, Miranda remembers that she has been taught not to speak to their guest and transitorily falls silent. When Ferdinand states that he would gladly serve her, Miranda asks if he loves her. At his affirmative reply, Miranda begins to weep. She tells Ferdinand that she is unworthy of him but will marry him if he wants her. He quickly agrees, and they pledge their love. In the meanwhile, Prospero has been privy to this conversation. Though, he remains unseen. He acknowledges Miranda and Ferdinand's natural match as being 'Of two most rare affections' but he has other plans that need his immediate attention, and so he turns to his books and other waiting business.

ANSWERS

A. Ferdinand is carrying a log. He tells Miranda that he doesn't mind carrying them because he is carrying them for her. Miranda feels sad for Ferdinand and asks him to relax a little as her father is busy studying. She offers to carry the log for Ferdinand but Ferdinand says that he can't see her working while he sits around being lazy.

B.1.

- a. Ferdinand is the speaker.
- b. He is addressing Miranda.
- c. The sweet thoughts that Ferdinand is referring to is the fact that while her father is harsh she weeps when she sees him work
- d. The very fact that Miranda's father made Ferdinand carry logs

- a. The speaker is Prospero.
- b. The 'poor worm' is Miranda.
- c. It means that he is in love with her and can do anything for her.

CH Question tags

What is a Question tag?

A Question Tag is a short question, either positive or negative, added to a statement in order to get it confirmed.

Example: - (a) Sachin is a good player, isn't he?
(b) Sachin isn't a good player, is he?

Types of Question tags :

There are two types of question tags:

Positive Question Tags

Tags like are you? Shall we? Are positive question tags which are attached to negative statements for getting confirmation?

Examples: (a) You didn't call him, did you?
(b) She did not speak well, did she?

Negative Question tags

Tags like isn't, didn't you are negative question tags which are attached to positive statements for seeking agreement of the listener.

Examples: (a) He played well, didn't he?
(b) They danced well, didn't they?

Formation of question Tags

1. A question comprises of only two words like didn't you, did you, shall we, are you.
2. The auxiliary verb used in both the statements and the question tag should be same.
Example: she is a dancer, isn't she?
3. Subject of both, the question tag and the statement should be same. We use a pronoun of the same person as the subject.

Example: India is the largest democracy in the world. Isn't it?

India is the subject of the statement and in the question tag instead of India, pronoun "It" has been used.

1. If the statement is positive, we use a negative question. For negative statement, we use a positive question tag.
2. In question tags, we use short forms of the negatives.
Examples: haven't, won't, didn't, aren't and soon.

Features

1. The question tag for "I am" is aren't I? (Instead of aren't I one can also use ain't I)
2. After a positive command we can use 'will you'? Or won't you?
Examples: Please sit here, will you?
Please come here, won't you?
3. After negative commands we use: Will you?
Examples: Don't forget to wake me up, will you?
4. After let us, we use shall we?
Examples: Let us wait for him, shall we?

Exercise 1

Add appropriate question tags to the following statements.

1. These students are really intelligent.
2. Do call me.
3. I am absolutely right.
4. She was not being truthful.
5. Your book is widely read.

Exercise 2

Add appropriate question tags to the following statements.

- She is preparing well.
- You can solve the sum.
- You are going on leave.
- Gayatri will not oblige you.
- The principal wants to deliver a lecture.

Chapter - Punctuation and Capital Letters

Punctuation marks are used to put pauses in a written sentence or a passage to communicate the intended meaning better and clearly.

Read the following sentences carefully.

- (a) He has composed a poem. (a statement ending with full stop.)
(b) He has composed a poem! (an exclamatory sentence with an exclamation mark)
(c) Has he composed a poem? (an interrogative sentence ending with a question mark ? )

The above sentences indicate that the same group of words can be said to ask a question, to make a statement or to express surprise. The punctuation marks hold the key to this secret. So, the use of punctuation marks can alter the meaning of group of words.

Punctuation marks have to be used carefully to convey the right meaning.

Important punctuations marks are generally used for:

Full stop (.) comma (,) inverted commas (“”) exclamation marks (!) Question mark (?)

Colon (;) semi colon (;) apostrophe (,) hyphen (-) dash (—)

Features

a. A full stop (.)

It is used to mark the end of a statement, a command, a request or an instruction.

Example: Get me a glass of juice. (Command) Delhi is a historical city. (Statement)

We also use a full stop to write a decimal number.

Example: 44.2

We also use a full stop after an abbreviation or any initials.

b. Question mark (?) is placed at the end of an interrogative sentence

Example: Whose watch is this?

c. Inverted commas (“”) are used to enclose the actual words of the speaker.

Examples: Rita said “My bag is heavy.”

d. Apostrophe (’) is used:

To show possession or omission of letters.

Example: The boy’s shoes are published. (possession) They didn’t believe me. (Did not)

To show time and distance.

Example: She need a month’s leave.

To form plural of letters and figures.

Example: There are two M.A.’s in that group of teachers.

While writing any name ending with(s) we add only an apostrophe (’) to possession.

Example: John Keats’ poems are master pieces in the treasury of English literature.

In case of plural nouns which end with the letter (s), the apostrophe is added but an „- s“ is not added after it.

Examples: Boy’s hostel has all the facilities.

Girls’ School is near the post office.

However, when the plural nouns do not end with a 's' then after the apostrophe 's' is used.

Examples: Children's books are being sold in the book shop at a 50% discount.

Men's readymade shirts are available at all the leading showrooms in the Mall.

We use an apostrophe with expressions of time, space and money.

Examples: He has gone on two month's leave.

An apostrophe is not used with ours, yours, his, hers and theirs.

5. Exclamation mark (!) is used after exclamations or expression of strong emotions. Examples:

Hurrah! My favorite team has won. Wow! What a lovely view.

6. Semicolon is used to indicate a longer pause than a comma. It separates pairs of words.

Example: cease, seize; board, bored are homophones.

It also separates parts of a sentence if the parts have internal commas.

Example: The crisp, crunchy wafers were delicious; but we could not finish the entire packet.

A semicolon is also used to mark independent clauses which have not been joined by a conjunction.

Example: Reena is bringing the map and the globe; Rashi is getting the atlas and the compass.

It is often used before words like moreover, however, then, nevertheless, hence, therefore, consequently, obviously. If these words come between independent clauses which are not joined by conjunctions, then a semicolon is used.

Example: She has fractured her leg; hence she cannot go on the trip.

7. Colon (:) is used to introduce a quotation or speech.

8. Example: Mother said: Honesty is the best policy.

It is also used to introduce a list.

Example: Before I went for a picnic I packed the following: a packet of biscuits, a can of juice, a bar of chocolate and a garden umbrella.

It may be used to state an explanation, a statement or a proposition.

Example: The plan to boost sales was this: approach the customers directly, advertise in the newspapers, put banners on the street posts.

USE OF CAPITAL LETTERS

a. To begin the first word of a sentence

Example: He began to cry.

b. To begin the first word of every line in a poem

Example: Till the little ones weary

No more can be weary...

c. It begins the first word of direct speech.

Example: He said, "Come here."

d. For proper nouns and proper adjectives

Examples: Gitanjali, Ramesh, Goa, Indian, Chinese, Indian, American

e. To begin names of days, months

Examples: Monday, July, the fifth Saturday of this month

Merry Hearts Public School, Hansraj College

i. To begin names of special events, special days

Examples: the Independence Day, the Satyagraha Movement

While writing titles of essays, stories the first letter of all the words is written in capital except prepositions, conjunctions and articles

Example: The Most Memorable Day of My Life

11. To write the official names of government departments, letters of important officers in high ranks

Examples: the Home Minister, the Chief Minister

12. For names of books, journals, newspaper, novels

Examples: The Times of India, India Today, the God of Small Things

13. While writing the pronoun I and all the words which stand for God Example: I like to watch movies.

USE OF COMMA (,)

It expresses the shortest pause within a sentence.

The comma is used –

1. To separate words, phrases and pairs of words in a sentence
Example: I ate biscuits and chips, chocolates and cookies; I enjoyed the taste of everything.
2. To separate words in a series
Example: He brought scissors, a bottle of gum and glazed paper to make a poster. You will notice that we should not use a comma after a word which is followed by “and”.
3. To mark a word or a group of words in apposition
Example: Hari, my brother, is about to reach here.
4. To mark off a direct quotation
Example: She said, “Let us go.”
5. To separate the words yes “or no” from rest of the sentence
Example: Yes, I like the pen.
6. To separate the months and the year, the date and the year .
Example: June 10,20...
7. In a letter after the salutation and at the end, just before the signature
Examples : Dear Sir, Pl. Note (In modern times, no comma is put after Dear Sir)
8. To separate question tags
Example: He is fine ,isn't he?
9. To separate expressions like ‘of course’, ‘however’, ‘in fact’
10. To separate reported speech from the rest of the sentence
Example: She said, “Here they come.”
11. In a letter to separate the different details of an address or after the salutation and the complimentary close.

Example: 25 Nirman Street
Rampur Village Kanpur
(UP) or Dear Sarita or

Yours affectionately

(In modern usage, the comma is not used for the above purposes.)

Whenever a small pause is required to give a clear meaning while writing a sentence

Example: To reach the school, I took a rickshaw.

USE OF DASH (–)

1. Dash is used before or after a list.
Example: Aditya and Vikram – both love adventure sports.
2. It is also used to mark a break in a sentence.
Example: He desired to be set free from captivity – but the rules did not permit it.
3. It is also used to mark the word in apposition. Example:
Delhi – the capital of India

USE OF HYPHEN (-)

It is half the length of a dash and is used for compound words.

Examples: sister-in-law, father-in-law

Chapter- 42 - The World of Virtual Reality

42. The World of Virtual Reality

An interactive computer-generated experience recreated within a simulated environment capable of inducing auditory, visual, haptic, and other types of sensory feedback is what defines the concept of virtual reality. Augmented reality systems may also be considered as a form of VR that can transmit virtual information over a live camera feed into a headset or through a Smartphone or tablet device giving the user the ability to view three-dimensional images which are lucid and vivid in nature.

Let's sharpen our minds with this quiz.

- How would virtual reality enhance instruction?
  - It would tally rewards to help with classroom management.
  - It would assist teachers to communicate with parents.
  - It would provide a deeper level of comprehension with realistic 3D imagery.
  - All of the above
- Which of the following is an example of non-immersive VR device?
  - An IMAX
  - An iPad
  - A virtual reality headset
  - A screen projection
- VR may be vital to students with special needs because
  - It allows them to escape from difficult social situations.
  - They can attend class from home.
  - Teachers can develop personalized lessons for students.
  - None of the above
- Select the option that is NOT a constraint of VR?
  - It can only be used for Science and Geography.
  - It can be costly.
  - Developing lessons/experiences can be time consuming.
  - Resistance to new technology from teachers.
- Pick out the 3 correct types of VR
  - Immersive, 3D, non-immersive
  - Immersive, semi-immersive, non-immersive
  - Digital, semi-immersive, projective
  - 3D, non-immersive, digital
- As there are many health and safety considerations of virtual reality, most VR systems are equipped with consumer warnings like -
  - Developmental issues in children
  - Trip-and-fall and collision warnings
  - Repetitive stress injury
  - All of these
- Ivan Sutherland, with the help of his student Bob Sproull, was able to construct what was well known as the first head-mounted display (HMD) system for use in immersive simulation applications. Which year did he do that?
  - 1958
  - 1988
  - 2000
  - 1968
